Pleasant weekend in Frog Park

Saturday, November 17

I went to Frog Park by myself by train on the weekend. The nearest station from my house is Tiger Station, but the steep upward slope is a problem. I wanted to go by bike on a flat road, so I decided to go to another station that is a bit farther away than Tiger Station. I rode the train for about 30 minutes and arrived at Zebra Station. It took about 15 minutes to Frog Park on foot after I got off the train. There were a lot of beautiful flowers along the road and a few trendy stores, and I had fun just walking.

It was a sunny day and there were already a lot of people in the park. Most of them were with their families. I walked around the park and enjoyed watching people playing catch or Frisbee, jogging, and reading books lying on the grass.

After a while, I noticed they had loaner bikes in front of the office at the park. I completed the required procedures in the office and rode a loaner bike around the cycling road in the park. I felt comfortable. I think I will play catch or something with my friend next time.
